With this issue of the Sun my connection with the paper ceases. Having been managing editor since the first edition of the Sun, I have seen its favorable reception by the people with much satisfaction. Its growth in circulation and influence has been far beyond what was expected at its inception for the early months of its existence. It will no doubt continue in competent hands and receive the continued favor of the public. In this connection I wish to express my high appreciation of the many kind words said to and of me and my work by friends who approved it, and my regret that circumstances do not warrant my continued stay in Paducah, where people I have learned to regard as big hearted, sociable and hospitable as well as thrifty, intelligent and enterprising in business, a people with whom it would be a delight to live. I shall remember pleasantly the ten months spent in your midst. I desire to be in this connection the uniformly courteous treatment accorded me by the newspaper fraternity, with the members of which my personal relations have been very pleasant. Very Respectfully, J. P. HODGSON.

The theorists who insisted during the last fall's discussion of the silver question that the adoption of the silver standard would prove advantageous to our foreign commerce will probably be surprised to find that it is this very subject which led both Japan and Peru to adopt the gold standard. Statements by the officials of these two nations show in each case that they found that their foreign commerce was suffering by reason of the fluctuations in the value of their currency, since foreigners in accepting their coin simply classed it as foreign, while they forced it upon the citizens of those countries at its face value in payment of their exports. This testimony as to the real effect of a silver standard on foreign commerce, coming simultaneously, as it does from two nations widely separated, is extremely valuable, and must show to those who were inclined to accept the foreign commerce theory of the silver proposition last fall that it was an erroneous one.

Democratic leaders who have borne the heat and burden of the day during many years and many campaigns must experience a strange sensation on finding themselves read out of the party by new comers in that organization. William Jennings Bryan, who voted for the Populist candidate for president in 1892, and who was nominated on an anti-slavery platform in 1896, calmly announced through his representatives in the various states that only men who supported him and his platform last year can be admitted to participation in Democratic conventions or primaries in any state in the campaign of 1897. The following extract from the call for the Ohio Democratic convention is a sample of the way Mr. Bryan and those who do his bidding lay down the law. The call announces that "the following persons and none other" are eligible to participate in the state convention. "First, all persons who voted for William J. Bryan for president at the November election of 1896; second, all persons who are in accord with the position of the Democratic party as set forth in the Chicago platform, adopted in Chicago July 8, 1896."

The Wilson law having proved a failure in every branch of service which it was intended to fulfill, its apologists are now seeking refuge in the statement that it at least increased our markets for manufactured goods. It is true that our sales for manufactured goods abroad foot up a larger total now than they did before the law went into effect, but it is also true that this total measured in dollars is due to a great extent to an increased price obtained for articles sold, rather than an increase in the quantity for which a market is found. Illuminating oils which brought twenty odd million dollars of money to American markets in 1896 more than 1891, did so solely because of the increased price of oil, the number of gallons exported in 1896 being actually less than in 1891. The same is true in many other instances. The other cause of the increase in exports is due to the fact that American markets were filled with foreign manufactures and that our producers found it necessary to either seek a market abroad at any price, or close their establishments. In many cases they were obliged to sell at a loss in order to dispose of the stocks on hand for which they found no home market.

If the people of Paducah will give the necessary encouragement to the location of new factories here there is a great future for the city. This and only this will insure rapid extension of the population. The favorable situation of the city with reference to transportation, both river and rail, is matter of much importance, which will have its influence on those seeking locations for manufacturing industries; but there are other cities, and many of them, equally well situated in this regard, and many of these are ready and anxious to offer inducements for the location of manufacturing industries; they are on the lookout for them; they are seeking them high and low. If Paducah would be in the race she must do likewise. There are many worthless contests seeking houses, of which it is necessary to steer clear, but at the same time there are new institutions constantly forming that have the necessary capital and capacity to conduct a successful business, that while they do not seek, will not refuse to listen to financial assistance. Many concerns can be induced to change locations by payment of cost of moving, site, etc., and which once located here would quickly repay the outlay made in securing them. The city that is on the alert and ready to go down into its pocket if necessary is the city that now-a-days forges ahead.

GENERAL WETTER'S call upon the city government for 60,000 remittances will not have the effect of bringing that government on the verge of the pacification of the nation. The New York Journal of Commerce, of Democratic proclivities, says of the business situation: "The business conditions of the last week were on the whole quite favorable. There is no backward movement and there are many signs of progress, especially in the growing spirit of cheerfulness." CANADA has passed a contract law for law specially designed to prevent Americans from entering Canada under contract to labor. The number of Americans who seek employment in Canada is unimportant as compared with the number of Canadians seeking employment in this country, and this country will not register a very high kick against such a law. The assertion that the present council has increased taxation is false, as we have repeatedly shown by the official figures. Without increasing the tax this council has made and provided for more substantial improvements than all the Democratic councils that have preceded it in the last decade. The sober sense of the people must and will acknowledge this fact.

GENERAL WETTER'S call upon the city government for 60,000 remittances will not have the effect of bringing that government on the verge of the pacification of the nation.

THE SERVICE.

Dr. Hamner Delivers Another Powerful Sermon.

Lessons Drawn From the Life of Daniel.

The extreme heat notwithstanding, there was a large audience out at the tent last night to hear another excellent sermon from Dr. Hamner.

The subject of the sermon was the character of Daniel, with special reference to his refusal to eat the food offered to idols. The sermon was full of interest to those who heard it and the eloquent divine held his audience spell bound for more than an hour. The substance of the sermon was as follows:

Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself. The word defile is very strong, and in the original means to trample down. Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not trample himself down. He resolved not to break down his manhood. Character and destiny are shaped in the heart of a man. Inherited moral taint, low birth, poverty and obscurity cannot defeat the purpose of a Daniel. God pity the poor creature of circumstance! The world honors the man who masters opposition and hard environment. Such a man God crowns. All heaven cannot make a man of a purposeless creature who fears and fawns before other men. All hell cannot defeat the man of purpose. Under the blessing of heaven a man may be just what he wants to be. If you will not break yourself down, God will see to it that nothing shall.

Every man makes his own world. Now note it. You determine in your heart what you will be and do, and then you determine what sort of a world you will live in. As a man purposed in his heart, so is he. All the roving, restlessness and discontent are caused by inadequate purpose. The immortal soul will not consent to a purpose limited to the narrow, sensuous sphere. God says a man must be as high as the eternal throne, as long as eternity, and as broad as the wide reach of being, in time and eternity. You may be just as great and noble as you want to be.

Your little world is too narrow. It is bounded on the North by the ball room; on the East by the dance hall; on the South by the punch bowl, card parties and free shows; on the West by remorse, tears and hell. It is as high as the thoughtless companions whose fascinating charms command your heart's constant devotion. A magnanimous, benevolent purpose to realize on the splendid possibilities makes us truly noble and great.

Let us consider some of the destructive forces which will break down manhood.

Some of these will disintegrate a man. A few years ago the Khedive of Egypt presented to this republic a obelisk—a needle of Cleopatra. In due time the obelisk was transported to Central park, New York. I soon began to scale off, disintegrate. The climatic condition was not favorable to its continued integrity. It was built for the valley of the Nile, and there it stood immovable for centuries and centuries, but it could not stand against the disintegrating effects of its new climate. You can scarcely read the once plain hieroglyphics. There are certain things that will disintegrate you. Many a boy has left his mother hearing the injunction of divine sonship, but evil association soon disintegrated him. A change of moral atmosphere obliterated sweet, true sentiments of a noble mother. Political preference and worldly honors break down many noble young men. The statesmanship of this country is not in the halls of legislation, simply because the methods of success could not be employed without manifest injury to character. The Daniels prefer to remain at home.

There are some forces which will disintegrate you. In a gentleman's home at Norfolk, Va., is a large piece of wood which apparently weighs about fifty pounds, but on lifting it you are surprised to learn that it weighs only a few pounds. It was taken from the keel of a vessel under water, where a link-worm bore and cut away the sinews and flesh of the organism of the timber. So these forces will disintegrate you. No act of duty is one of them. The most common form of this evil is in the church. Church vows are more generally disregarded than any other.

These vows test manhood. They cannot be enforced, but depend upon honor alone, hence they are neglected. Neglect of church vows is just as fatal to character as any other vice. No honest man will neglect his church vows. Dishonesty in the commercial world will disorganize a man and break him down. Extravagant expenditures, lying, cheating, borrowing without a probability of paying, yea, all forms of dishonesty, or any form of it will ruin you forever. Wordly and Godless amusements are luring thousands from the right way.

There are vices which will demoralize you. A gentleman told me one day he was cutting walking sticks in London county, Virginia. He saw one nice, trim pole that outwardly appeared to be all right, but when he took hold of it, he found that only the bark remained. A small worm had literally ground the body to powder—it had demoralized the stick. Now, some practices will grind you to powder. I specify—1st, lust; 2d, drunkenness; 3d, idleness; 4th, dishonesty.

Dr. Hamner drew several valuable lessons along this line, and in a powerful exhortation called on the congregation to come out on the Lord's side.

A large number of people went up for prayer, and there were ten conversions. Many Christian people also pledged anew their fealty to the cause of Christ.

KEYS' CATCH.

Something of the Mayfield Post Office Fight.

L. W. Key is a happy man, says the Mayfield "Mirror" speaking of the post office fight. He won the post office fight, and has reason to be proud of the victory. He received notification Tuesday that his name would be sent to the Senate by the President; and Mr. O. B. Happy, the other contestant, received a request to withdraw his application for the office, and he would be recommended for some other place which would give a salary even larger than that of the Mayfield post office.

The fight for the postoffice here between Happy and Key has been a long and persistent one. Each applicant had good party endorsement, besides drew good politicians to manage the contest. Happy's fight was conducted by the invincible Jim Happy, warden of the Edinville prison, and one of the smoothest politicians in the state; and he had also the support of Senator Debee and the Republican nominee for congress in this district, Mr. Thomas, of Trigg county.

Key's fight was made through W. S. Mason, the Republican elector for this district. His prestige of being elector was very great with the President, and the fact that he wanted nothing for himself and asked for only two places for his friends, made it hard for the president to turn him down.

Senator Debee could likely prevent the confirmation of Key in the Senate, but he will not likely do so. Many efforts were made to get each applicant to withdraw under promise of other places, and a high partyman was sent here a few days ago to try to effect a compromise; but each one had his heart set on the Mayfield post office, and would not then yield.

The Happlies are reasonably well satisfied with the turn of matters. It is understood by them that they will get a place worth $2000 a year. While O. B. Happy was the contestant for the postoffice, it is understood that R. D. Happy will accept the compromise office, and that Key will remain here.

It will be nearly a month before Mr. Key gets installed into his new place. The appointment will have to be confirmed by the senate; a bond will then have to be filled and accepted; and finally the commission issued before the change takes place. The bond heretofore has been $12,000.

The office here pays about $1700 to the chief and allows a salary for clerk of about $500 a year, besides nearly a hundred dollars on money order commissions. Mr. Key has not decided on a deputy yet. He has a number of applications. He says he will still retain his interest in the planning mill of Cananda, Gilliam & Key.

The term of Postmaster West expired on 30th of April last, and by the time his successor gets in he will have held over about three months.

BETTER THAN NEW.

Is the City's Four-Wheel Reel, of South Side Station.

The city's big four-wheel hose reel, which now belongs to the south side station, and which has been in the shop for repairs, was today completed, and the painting will be finished in a few days.

The repairs to the reel cost about $250, but it has been so improved that it is now worth $1,000, according to Fire Chief Voight, although it did not originally cost but $700, and the city has had much good use out of it.

This is only one of the many instances where the fire committee of the council has exercised its good judgment. All the expenditures it has ever made or authorized have been judicious and to advantage.

UNITED BRETHREN.

Enjoying an Outing at Fort Mass, Mo., Ill., to-day.

A large crowd of the United Brethren congregation of the city left this morning for Fort Mass, near Metropolis, on the St. Louis & New Orleans, to spend the day. The occasion is an annual picnic, and the crowd will return tonight. The Cowling left an hour earlier than usual this morning on account of the crowd.

There was a large crowd at La Belle Park last night to witness the first presentation of "The Country Belle." The bill will be repeated tonight.

Special Features, Races, JULY 5 AND 6.

In addition to a very attractive program of harness and running races, the association have secured the Wonder Bros. Hippodrome races with thoroughbred horses for each day, which will be a very exciting and interesting race of four horses with riders standing while going at full speed.

A free-for-all mixed foot and pace race for luggy horses, driven by the owners, in four wheel vehicles, will be an interesting feature on July 6, in addition to the regular races, and the hippodrome races. Everybody who admires fine horses will attend the races in preference to any other attraction.

Do you have that tired feeling? Get a White Mountain Freezer and have a nice lemon ice every day and you will not be bothered with it. Scott Hardware Co. are the agents.

Fruit jars, jelly glasses, sealing wax, can rubbers and stone and glass jar tops, all very cheap at Noah's Ark.

Nine persons were taken sick a short time after eating ice cream frozen in a cheap freezer. The poison was from the inferior coating of the can. The White Mountain has pure black coating which is as pure as silver. We are the agents, Scott Hardware Co.

Gentlemen, if you are in want of cool, colored negligee shirts or colored plaid ones for this hot weather you should not fail to call and see the new things just arrived at Eley, Duple & White.

GENTS. Look at this.
Earlier in the season we purchased at low figures a large lot of colored negligees and colored plaid bosom shirts. Owing to delay in receiving same and fearing our stock is too large, we have decided to place same on sale at 17c for laundered, colored bosoms; 75c for colored negligee with laundered collars and cuffs, and 98c for plaid bosoms and cuffs to match.
